Any business or transaction through a firm called Robson Painters and Company', the website of '<https://robsonpainterssolicitors.com>' and the email address of 'info@robsonpainterssolicitors.com' is not undertaken by a genuine individual or firm of solicitors.

Any business or transaction through the address of '63 Southampton Row, Bloomsbury, London, United Kingdom, WC1B 4AR' is not undertaken by a genuine individual or firm of solicitors.

What should I do?

When a firm's or individual's identity has been copied exactly (or cloned), due diligence is necessary. If you receive correspondence claiming to be from the above firm(s) or individual(s), or information of a similar nature to that described, you should conduct your own due diligence by checking the authenticity of the correspondence by contacting the law firm directly by reliable and established means. You can contact the SRA to find out if individuals or firms are regulated and authorised by the SRA and verify an individual's or firm's practising details. Other verification methods, such as checking public records (e.g. telephone directories and company records) may be required in other circumstances.
