

Population of solicitors in England and Wales

We regulate solicitors and law firms, as well as other lawyers and non-lawyer managers in those law firms across England and Wales. We also regulate those working as registered European or foreign lawyers.

Our purpose is to protect the public by making sure that solicitors meet high standards, and by acting when risks are identified.

The graph chart below shows the trend in the number of practising solicitors (those holding practising certificates). There are currently 176,360 practising solicitors.

Each year, practising solicitors must renew their practising certificate and we revoke those which are not renewed. This means there will be a fall in the numbers of practising solicitors at certain points in the table.

We also carry out a keeping of the roll exercise. This was reintroduced in 2023, the result of which can be seen in July, and will now be come an annual exercise.

Snapshot of solicitors

As well as practising solicitors we also regulate registered European lawyers, registered foreign lawyers, and exempt European lawyers. The current numbers of these three groups can be seen in the table below.

The total number of solicitors on the roll at the end of September 2025 was 211,755.

Notes

1. Following the UK's exit from the EU only Swiss registered European lawyers (REL) can continue as an REL up to 1 January 2024. All other RELs are now registered foreign lawyers.
2. Following the UK's exit from the EU most exempt European lawyers (EELs) are no longer treated as legally qualified in England and Wales. All non-UK EELs are now registered foreign lawyers. Since January 2021 this column only shows those who are UK EELs.
